

STUDENTS

Attendance Areas

As population and enrollment shift within a district, changes in attendance areas or transfer of students may become necessary. The superintendent shall estimate, prior to the end of the school year, the district's enrollment for the following school year. In those cases where estimated enrollments are substantially in excess of class size guidelines and building space availability, the redrawing of attendance areas and student transfers shall be made as necessary to operate an effective and efficient educational program including the consideration of moving special programs from one building to another.
